

Andie Duquette is a Canadian singer from Montreal, Quebec. Andie's career started at the very young age of three. Her parents were quite astonished when, at age five, Sesame Street hired Andie to sing their full repertoire for the French adaptation of this iconic TV show for Quebec audiences. Andie continued to sing and perform at a high level as a child for years and was given a number of roles on TV commercials and TV series. Andie subsequently went on to study vocal training with some of the best in Montreal in order to really master her abilities as a singer and she immersed herself for a few years in strict technique. Growing up in the city she was initially a big fan of Classic Rock and strong female artists like Heart, Pat Benatar, Joan Jett but was immediately taken when she first heard Shania Twain's voice one day on the radio - and that was all it took! Now, Andie is looking up to her peers who have dominated the Country

Music Charts and are opening the door for girls like her.

Notwithstanding her young age, Andie has already toured extensively across the world including Canada, Europe, the US, Mexico, China and the Dominican Republic.

In 2013 Andie was a contestant of the hit TV show "La Voix", Quebec's version of "The Voice", where she was a strong semi-finalist. It was this experience which catapulted her to the next level of her career when Canadian Producer Tino Izzo (Celine Dion, Bobby Bazini, The Wilkinson's, Roch Voisine, Garou, Jacynthe, Yuna Ito, Saya...to name a few) first saw her and asked to work with her. Tino and Andie started working together in 2014, putting in countless hours since and working hard to develop something distinct, something totally Canadian, and something they feel absolutely committed to. Andie, in the meantime, released her 1st solo French album in her native Quebec in 2015 where she was extremely well received. She earned three monster Top Ten BDS singles with one topping at #1 BDS on mainstream radio for many weeks which was followed with an extensive tour in 2016. October 6, 2017: Release of the album "HERE WE ARE".

Andie erkrankte 2005 an Krebs (2015 Rückfall), nun aber gesund. Sie engagiert sich aktiv für die Organisation Leucan. Diese hilft Familien mit Kindern welche an Krebs erkrankt sind. Nach ihrer Zeit bei La Voix (The Voice) wurde Andie in sozialen Netzwerken sehr aggressiv gemobbt. Von einer Person wurde sie fast 2 Jahre belästigt. Sie beschloss nicht mehr zu schweigen und aktiv gegen Cyber-Mobbing vorzugehen. Viele sind von diesem Problem betroffen und es soll nicht toleriert werden. Hierfür machte sie mit einer TV-Station eine Kampagne (Clip), welche innert 24 Stunden von über 1 Million Personen angeschaut wurde (der Clip ist auf www.CoolSchule.ch/andie-duquette zu finden).
